QUADRUPLE AIM FRAMEWORK

The Quadruple Aim is an approach that aspires to optimize health system performance. McGough aligns its project delivery with the Quadruple Aim Framework in mind, striving to:

1 Improve Physician and Staff Engagement

Target: Improve engagement by involving the staff throughout the project to better communicate, listen and meet needs.

2 Improve the Quality of Healthcare

Target: Improve the health of the population through the use of advanced tools and technology for better patient safety and infection prevention.

3 Improve the Patient Experience

Target: Enhance the experience and outcomes of the patient by constructing high design healing environments while maintaining budget, schedule and quality.

4 Reduce Costs

Target: Use Lean principles and practices to reduce construction costs by identifying and creating efficiencies while reducing waste.
